PROJECT DESCRIPTION:

Objectives

Our international strategy is based on the promotion of institutional cooperation and mobility activities with foreign universities in general and with European and Mediterranean ones in particular. So we encourage the implementation of student mobility within European programs and cooperative actions such as joint teaching and research programs and cultural exchange.

The main objectives of such a strategy are :

- to improve transparency and comparability and to facilitate academic recognition of studies and qualifications in order to overcome barriers such as the differentiation of degree systems.
- build capacities in pedagogical and in research domain.
- exchange good practices in teaching by updating our programs and adopting new methods (distance learning, use of digital tools and ICT.
- exchanging best practices in university governance and in particular the organization and management of international relations

Taking part into Errasmus+ program is an opportunity for us to reach such objectives.

Activities

- Students mobility (we consider that doctoral students are a priority because we believe that they will have the appropriate environment to carry out their research (laboratories, equipment, supervision, ...)
- Academic staff mobility (in order to build capacities either on pedagogical aspects or in research domain)
- Administrative Staff Mobility (to build capacity in the governance of the different departments of the university and in particular those of international relations and management of student tuition.
- joint teaching and research activities.

Results

- increase the skills of our students, academic and administrative staff
- increase our visibility
- Transfer new skills by updating curricula,
